Bob,

I'm not doing well. I lost my job in August and haven't been able to find anything since. I'm on unemployment insurance which isn't enough to live on and I'm running out of time to stay on it.

I was evicted from my apartment last month because I was unable to pay rent and my lease expired. I have been living out of a hotel for the last week and I'm running out of money. I've started to sell jewelry to stay in a hotel and keep from living out of my car but I'm starting to think that may be the wisest decision. My dog is with me but I'm terrified I'll lose him.

I can't go back to my parents' home because I'm already in a fragile state. One wrong word from my parents and I'm worried I won't be able to stay strong.

I am contacting you out of desperation because I am running out of options. Contacting you at work in the past landed me with police complaints. It was very upsetting. If I get police complaints from you again it will also weaken my resolve to keep surviving. But I am clearly very desperate which is why I'm reaching out to you.

Is there anything you can do? All of this happened because I said 5 words to you. I'm not trying to make you feel guilty but I desperately need help here.

I'm currently at a hotel in NJ but I don't know if I'll keep the reservation past tonight. I have no where to go.

Priya

I don't know if you received the below email yesterday or are choosing not to respond, which is fine. But could you please let me know you received this?

Will also try from my priya.isaac@gmail.com address shortly, in case these are not getting through to you.
